The Pit-Lurker

Sulphur slit-eyes, glowing yellow eyes built to see heat so they can find you from anywhere.

Crushing jaws lined with serrated teeth that drip a yellow toxic venom.

The back is a thick, scarred, prehistoric warning signal to anything that gets in its way. It has massive spikes protruding from its spine.

The tail is built to whiplash. A heavy muscular weapon used to crush anything it hits in a single swing.

The doom beard is a massive flare or razor-sharp obsidian black daggers that swell up when its about to strike. The spikes are as sharp as broken glass.

The eviscerating talons are three-inch coal-black hooks used to tear through skin and bones

Pit lurkers like to hide in the sun-baked holes dug by inmates. It stays in the holes to escape the heat from the blistering sun.

Pit lurker can make you paralysed with two bites and its venom is so strong that there is no way of escaping as you slowly die.

What to do if bitten.

Stand completely still and lay on the ground, apply pressure to the wound and call for help but don't move or it will attack again.

THE BLACK VEINED MONSTER

If this horrifying Monster even comes within a ten-metre radius of you, you should run for your life because if you don't you will most certainly die

This creature has terrible eye sight so if you stay out of its way, you'll be okay. The Black Veined Monster gets its name from its black patterns which look a bit like veins. This malevolent monster can swallow an ostrich egg whole and that's a huge egg. It doesn't have teeth because the venom is so acidic that it dissolves the food without having to chew even once. If it wanted, this creature could probably bite your foot off (not that anyone's ever tried). It has a venomous purple mouth and if the venom drips out of its mouth whatever it is standing on will be disintegrated. Remember if you see a black veined monster run for your life.

The crab clawed scorpion

The Crab Clawed scorpion has a hard yellowy-brown shell with the texture of sand that protects it and helps It be camouflaged from birds. It has two large pincers which can deliver enough force to break bones! On its tail is a large bulbous telson which has enough poison to kill an elephant.

The crab clawed scorpion sleeps underground in the day to escape the heat but will emerge at dusk to begin its hunting. This means that you are not likely to see any time soon, but if you do see one you should back away slowly and try and flee. However if you do get stung by one of these creatures there is nothing anyone can do for you any more!

It hunts at night to avoid the sun but sometimes if might enter one of the tents looking for food. If this happens the best thing for you to do is to pretend to be dead and lie very still.
