

St Faith's String Music Afternoon

On Sunday fifty strings pupils from seventeen different Cambridgeshire schools, including St Faith's, joined forces to take part in a workshop organised by the European String Teachers Association. Violinist Marianne Olyver directed the ensemble with the Strings teachers from St Faith's Music Department as the tutors. The strings players performed four sparkling pieces which were rehearsed in just under two hours. An astonishing performance and a glimpse of just how capable our young musicians are. It was wonderful to have St Faith's pupils from Year 3 – Year 8 involved in the same performance showing exactly why music is so inclusive. Marianne Olyver then treated the large audience to a dazzling and inspirational solo performance to finish off the concert before dashing off to Hong Kong for her next engagement (<http://www.olyver.com/>) .
