I enjoyed hearing about the whole history of the library and I was intrigued when you talked about the hiding of the books, especially the one behind the panel.

I liked the way they answered our questions in so much detail. Now I want to go to Cambridge University!

It was such a privilege to step back in time and see this incredible collection of books and manuscripts. We learnt about how manuscripts were made, and were given an interesting insight into Andrew Perne, the 16th century academic to whom many of the books belonged.
